Log in at amerihealth.com or on the AmeriHealth app to find an in-network provider or pharmacy.

Preventive vaccine recommendations and coverage are based on your age and health. Talk to your doctor about which preventive vaccines are appropriate for you.[4] Talk to your benefits administrator or call the Pharmacy Benefits number on the back of your member ID card for questions about coverage.[5]

Keep track of your care

Your Personal Health Record (PHR) is a secure, online health record that is automatically updated with information from your claims data (including vaccines, tests, and screenings). To access your PHR and see what vaccines you've received, log in at amerihealth.com, select My Health & Care Team from the menu on the left side of your Dashboard, and then select Personal Health Record.

1 Refer to your benefits to see how these vaccines are covered. Certain preventive vaccines are only eligible for $0 cost-sharing if you meet the population criteria.

2 If you get other services besides the vaccine during your doctor's visit, a copay may apply for those other services.

3 Vaccine is covered under both medical and prescription drug benefits.

4 For more information about recommended immunizations, review Medical Policy #08.01.04: Routine/Non-routine Vaccines. To do so, visit medpolicy.amerihealth.com and type "recommended vaccines" in the search field.

5 If you have coverage through your employer, benefits and coverages may vary with respect to drug or vaccine coverage.
